

Food & Agriculture Competition Roundtable

Friday, Dec. 7, 2018

9:00 AM - 5:00 PM

UW Law School

Madison, WI

MEDIA & FARMER FRIENDS:

Wisconsin Farmers Union will be hosting a reception for farmers and media on Thurs., Dec. 6th, the evening before the Roundtable.

WFU also hopes to receive grant funds to defray travel expenses for farmers to travel to Madison for the event(s).

If you are a farmer or member of the press and want to attend, contact Kara O'Connor at 608-514-4541 or koconnor@wisconsinfarmersunion.com so we can share the details as they become available.

Co-hosted by:

Wisconsin Farmers Union
Family Farm Defenders

Center for Integrated Agricultural Systems

The American Antitrust Institute and the UW Law School will present Food and Agriculture at a Crossroads: Setting Competition Priorities to Protect Producers, Consumers, and the Supply Chain.

Experts in antitrust and regulation from government, industry, advocacy, and university perspectives will examine market competition issues that affect farmers, the agricultural industry, and consumers.

TOPICS:

- Squeezed From Both Ends: Protecting Agricultural Producers in the Context of Seller and Buyer Market Power
- Consumer Food Sovereignty: Concentration Impact on Food Prices, Choice & Quality
- Food Supply Chains: Integration, Globalization, and What It Means for Competition and Stability

Featuring National Farmers Union President Roger Johnson

Registration is free but space is limited.
