Weekly Radio Address: The Wisconsin Budget

Madison... Rep. Terry Katsma (R-Oostburg) talks about finalizing “The Wisconsin Budget” in the Weekly Radio Address for Wisconsin State Republicans.

Hi. I’m State Representative Terry Katsma.

This week, as a member of the Joint Committee on Finance, we are finalizing our work on The Wisconsin Budget – your budget. Throughout this process, we remain focused on making sure the final budget represents the priorities of all people.

Our members in the Assembly held listening sessions in every corner of the state – from Athens to Egg Harbor, from Hudson to Harmony, from Oostburg to Elcho.

In addition to that, more than 40,000 people shared opinions through our member surveys, and we listened. Thank you for making your voices heard.

This budget cuts taxes, builds on historic increases in education, and fixes our roads and bridges. We are also increasing investments in health care, without expanding welfare. We’re making targeted investments in workforce training programs to connect skilled workers with in-demand careers.

The Wisconsin Budget serves the needs of everyone in Wisconsin, from hard-working families, to students, to retirees, with a common-sense approach that provides opportunity for all, without overspending.
