Power Outage Leads to Unavailable Vital Records

Brown County Clerk's Office Unable to Issue Marriage Licenses, Birth & Death Certificates

(Brown County, Wis.) – Due to the fires at two Madison power substations today, the Brown County Clerk's office will be unable to access state vital records until further notice.

That means the marriage licenses, birth certificates, and death certificates will not be available today. In addition, applicants for U.S. passports who need access to vital records will not be able to get those documents.

The Brown County Clerk's office will remain open today with limited services available for customers. Anyone with questions can call (920) 448-4021.
