Weekly Radio Address: Water Quality Task Force

MADISON - Rep. Todd Novak (R-Dodgeville) talks about progress made by the Speaker's Water Quality Task Force.

Hello, I'm Representative Todd Novak, chair of the Speaker's Water Quality Task Force.

Clean water is something that affects all aspects of our lives – from our health, to our homes. From the economy to the ecosystems. We need clean water to prosper and thrive.

That's why our bipartisan task force spent so much time over the summer gathering information, and hearing from people all across the state.

We traveled over 23-hundred miles, and held 14 hearings - from Superior to Stevens Point - from Milwaukee to Marinette.

At each and every location, we heard from members of the public, and subject matter experts, about the issues unique to each community,

With our public hearings behind us, are now working on policy recommendations to present to the legislature before the Holidays, and it is our intention to have these bills ready for a vote on the floor of the Assembly early next year.

The work of this Task Force is to ensure we protect this valued resource, so we have a healthy and stable water supply - now and in the future.
