Assembly Passes Budget That Lowers Taxes, Invests in Healthcare and Education

Madison, WI – Last night, the Wisconsin State Assembly passed the 2021-2023 Biennial Budget, which provides tax relief to families and businesses, boosts funding for Wisconsin’s healthcare system, makes significant investments into education, and increases funding to broadband expansion programs. Representative Rob Swearingen (R-Rhineland) made the following statement:

“I am very pleased that the Assembly passed a fiscally responsible budget that focuses on Wisconsin families, students, and small businesses. When Governor Evers wanted to raise taxes, Republicans decided to lower them. Too many people across the state, and especially in the Northwoods, have had to suffer from the economic burden of the pandemic, and this budget makes clear that their needs are addressed and met.”

Following the report that Wisconsin will have a $4.4 billion surplus, Republicans included a $3.4 billion middle-class tax cut in the budget as well as a repeal of the personal property tax. This tax plan will save the average Wisconsin family around $1,200 and provide necessary relief to Wisconsin businesses.

“After the economy shut down last year, Wisconsin families and small businesses took a major hit. We need to get businesses back on their feet and families back to a stable economic condition. The very best thing that we can do as legislators is to put your money back in your pocket without expanding the size of government.”

In addition, this budget provides a significant funding boost to Wisconsin’s healthcare system, namely by increasing access to high-quality, affordable healthcare and focusing on care for the elderly and disabled. Specifically, this budget will invest $104 million over the biennium into the Disproportionate Share Hospital (DSH) program, $30 million to nursing homes, directs $150 million in federal funds to long-term care facilities, and increases funding for the Dementia Care Specialist Program by $3.5 million.

“Constituents in the Northern Wisconsin deserve the same access to affordable, high-quality healthcare that citizens in metropolitan parts of the state receive. My efforts to permanently reauthorize the Disproportionate Share Hospital program will ensure that rural hospitals across the state continue to receive the funding they need to keep our citizens healthy. In addition, this budget will finally provide the much-needed funding for Dementia Care Specialists in the Northwoods.”

Furthermore, this biennial budget makes a historic investment into the education system, increases funding for broadband expansion programs, and invests in Wisconsin’s veterans. This budget will:

- Ensure that schools reach 2/3 funding by the second year of the biennium
- Provide nearly $20 million to mental health services for students
- Increase special education spending by $86 million
- Invest $129 million in broadband over the biennium
- Provide $200,000 over the biennium to fund suicide prevention awareness activities for veterans

Representative Swearingen represents the 34th Assembly District, which includes the Northwoods counties of Oneida, Vilas, Florence and portions of Forest.
